All different iris types will be examined and put under the microscope

In relation to all the topics we will look at the different iris types with the latest digital iris imaging techniques from John's own clinic, research initiatives and findings.

To date, in the iridology world, in-depth consideration of the pure brown iris (haematogenic iris) has often been overlooked or received scant attention, however recent research has helped to clarify the signs we should be looking for.

The pure brown iris, mixed iris and blue iris will be detailed on the clarification and priority given to iris, pupil, sclera, cornea & inner pupillary border (IPB) markings within the following fields of application:

- 🕒 Dermatology & Iridology - the root causes of skin conditions & diseases with current naturopathic treatments

- 🕒 The Most Important Iris & IPB signs in Modern Iridology

- 🕒 Summary of the Inner Pupillary Border - easy identification & interpretation of the main signs and how they help clarify what we see with the iris, sclera & cornea

John Andrews will help explain and empower the student or practitioner with practical tools and a clear, confident understanding for dynamic and competent application for all patient groups & demographics. Basically, you will be able to use the information covered the very next week within your practice.

Modern & Advanced Iridology

The John Andrews approach in iridology is to aim for the highest standard of clinical accuracy & understanding. This approach helps to combine classical iridology with the arrival of modern technology and physiological knowledge. It is considered an advanced approach, but it is better described as the modern and holistic approach. As what we understand as being “advanced” today; will become the norm of tomorrow. The modern & advanced approach in iridology is a truly integrative approach and encompasses the following field and dynamics:

- Immunology
 - Endocrinology
 - Embryology
 - Psychoneuroendocrinoimmunology (PNEI)
 - Emotional Epigenetics
 - Biogenetics
 - Emotional Embryology
 - Homotoxicology
- Functional Medicine
 - Herbal Medicine
 - Nutrition
 - Hydrotherapy
 - Physiological Regulating Medicine
 - Bioenergetics and even Quantum Physics

Due to flexibility the beauty of this type of iridology approach is that it can be used for all types of therapies and approaches.
